District Superintendent's Report

Greenville County Schools is a county-wide, unified school district covering more than 800 square miles with 51 elementary schools; 18 middle schools; 14 high schools; and 25 special schools, programs, and child development centers. The District has a student-population of more than 71,000, which ranks as the 47th largest in the nation and a district-wide choice program utilized by 14% of its students. Choice is driven in part by thriving magnet schools, a Fine Arts Center, The Charles Townes Gifted Center, four International Baccalaureate Programs, vocational centers, and the only fully integrated elementary engineering school in the State. Over the course of the last 12 years, the District completed a $1 billion building program that resulted in over 70 new or renovated school buildings and significant district-wide advancements in instructional technology. Dr. Phinnize J. Fisher Middle School is currently under construction and will provide GCS with a state-of-the-art, project-based, STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, Math) program for the middle years. Greenville County Schools is a leader in integrating technology into the classroom for the purposes of engaging students, equipping them with 21st century skills, and enhancing instruction. The recently completed Technology Refresh program ensures that students and teachers have access to technology that is both relevant and up-to-date. Decision making in the District is based upon an Education Plan that was developed with input from teachers, administrators, staff, students, parents, and community members. This plan identifies five central goals. Strategic initiatives developed in support of these goals are updated and implemented on an annual basis. Goal one of the Education Plan is increased student achievement, and serves as the primary goal of the District. The other four goals – ensure quality personnel in all positions, provide a school environment supportive of learning, effectively manage and further develop financial resources, and improve public understanding and support of public schools – are important supports for goal one. As a result of the District's commitment to increasing student achievement, alternative programs are offered at the middle and high school levels to students who are not successful in traditional school settings. The 2012-13 school year marked the opening of the Greenville Early College, which focuses on providing supports and developing a college-going identity among at-risk middle school students. The District also offers Virtual School, STAR Academy, Twilight School, and credit recovery options to help students in need of additional assistance. High Schools That Work, Making Middle Grades Work, MAP Formative Assessments, Balanced Literacy, and the Learning Focused Model serve to help all Greenville County students achieve academic success. Greenville County Schools is also home to Washington Center, a school that serves moderately to severely mentally and physically disabled students ages 5-21, most of whom have concurrent challenges such as blindness and deafness. The result of the District's focus on learning has been an overall steady increase in the markers used to define success, including SAT, ACT, the State's PASS testing, performance on nationally-normed tests such as ITBS, and the graduation rate.
